ROMANIA

My name is Nicoleta Ionescu,

I am a 24 years old illustrator and cartoonist from Romania.

I mostly draw books for children. I teach "Introduction to Digital Art" at the National University of Bucharest to students learning about Advertising, Journalism and PR. I studied myself Advertising and PR at the same University as well as painting at The National University of Art of Bucharest. I began being interested in cartooning and I try to keep up by participating in world contests and exhibitions. This year I won second prize on Toonpool's Election caricature contest with a caricature of Angela Merkel.

My works first published in a local newspaper 'Kocaeli'in 1989. Also worked for some newspapers+magazines. And have a cartoons album named 'Days with Cartoons' I have been worked as a president in Turkish Cartoonists Association for a year. The organisations which i'm member of are; FECO (Europe cartoonists organisation), Turkish Cartoonists Association I have won more than 100 national and international prizes, some of them are. Still i'm drawing for a daily newspaper, websites and magazines.

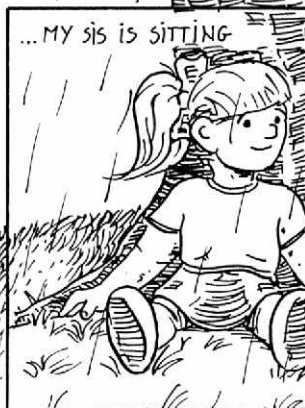

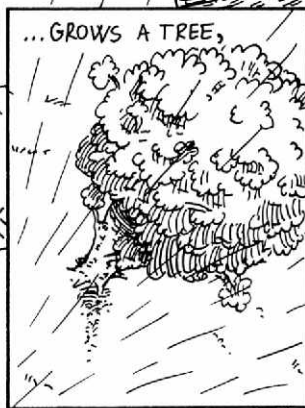

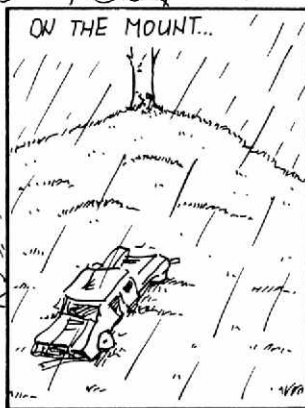

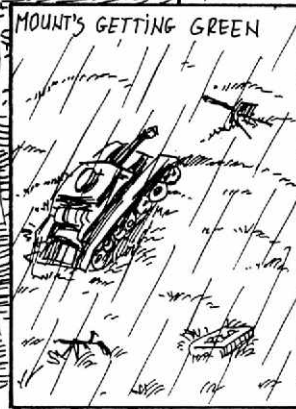

2. Derek Easterby GERMANY

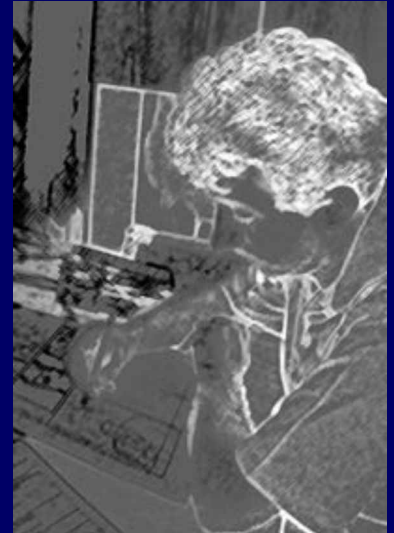

Born in London in 1939. First cartoon published in 1956 and 50 years later he has still got lead in his pencil...

All the years produced and sold Cartoons all over Europe, has appeared in various collections, exhibitions, But has never won a prize.

RAIN'S FALLING, GRASS'S GROWING...

* THIS IS A POPULAR CHILDREN'S RHYME.

3. Zlatko Milenković SERBIA

I was born in 1969 in Novi Sad. I learned how to read thanks to the comic books even before I went to primary school. Because of the desire to be engaged in comic books I started and finished high school for design "Bogdan Šuput". Since the sadly and boring ninetens people had to live by doing something I worked in Vojvodina bank and waited for the day when I will run away from there that I would be able to do the comics. But I managed to do something, so we work published in some magazines: Alef, "Pisac", "Šajkaške novine", "Sexpress", "Vesti", "Dan", "Ruske slovo", "Stav", "Nezavisni", "ZinFan", "Monopolist", "Reflex", "Bumerang". "Cool strip art anthology" (Macedonia), "Blek" (Island), Jersey Devil (SJRP-USA), Totems (Carton frolics-USA), "Biker Szene" (Germany)... etc.

I started back in 1999 the first internet weekly STRIP VESTI, which has continuous publishing for nine years. In early 2007, after the number 402 issues that came out in weekly rhythm, STRIP VESTI begun to be Balkan internet news station (each) daily, which, as its subtitle says, brings the news from the world of comics every day on the site www.stripvesti.com! Besides my desire to be engaged primarily in drawing comics, it can be said that this weekly is my biggest success in the field of comics. As this site is attempt for me to finally and definitively be back to drawing comics. I started and edited fanzin "ZinFan Trips" with the intent to promote the work of Novi Sad "young", and really young authors. It has been published entire four issues of that. An interruption came when I joined the company where I was not the boss related to the big resources of photocopier. So, ZinFan so suddenly disappeared from the scene.

But this did not mean anything bad for me, but even more. Since 2001, I finally managed to leave the Bank behind me, and I'm completely in the comics. However, just as the editorial of STRIPOTEKA. There I learned a lot about publishing, sales, and upgrade my knowledge about preparing the comics for printing. In MARKETPRINT I am still employed.

I started DRUGU EDICIJU where successfully has been published five comics La Bete Noire (D.Macan-M.Jovanović), as well as one album Stormy & Iceberg (B.Kerac-S.Slavković). Edition is, due to the many other obligations, on the "ice". Which does not mean that there will not be new publishing projects. When once publishing enters into the blood of yours, you can not never get rid of that completely. Same as comics.

While I worked at the Bank my album of short comics was published: "SVE JE TO LJUDSKI ALI MOZDA I NIJE" where I collected my, until then released, short comics. Mainly these comics previously published in a weekly letter STAV and the RUSKEM SLOVU. As a self-published edition of the author I published a one volume of comic book "Black & Angela".

I participated in many collective exhibitions, from the ZLATNA PERA, to those of small, organized by coffee-bars. To make the complete list I should be engaged in digging of the archive of moving boxes (while I was subtenant). Therefore, you are running out of the list for now.

The only reward for my comic assigned 1995th by the editorial "LITERARNO SLOVO" (within the weekly RUSKEM SLOVU) for the best art contributions in that year. Also to be succeeding in the regular NIN's annual list of the most important comic events. Of course, thanks to the STRIP VESTIMA, which are on the list this year took from first to last place, depending on what the competition was in the current year.

That's it for now. / www.zmcomics.in.rs / www.stripvesti.com and The Satirical Manufactory "Zikison" are announcing in the categories, the themes:

1. PORTRAIT (within cartoon shape): "Zivojin Pavlovic ZIKISON" (famous cartoonist, satiric, editor and publisher of satiric magazine from Serbia), Radoje Domanovic (the most famous satire writer of all times in SERBIA), Jaroslav Hašek (famous writer of the antiwar satire „Good soldier Svejk“ from CZECH REPUBLIC) and Stanisław Jerzy Lec (establisher and founder of the modern world aphorism from POLAND) and WITHOUT WORDS. How cartoonists sees them, "ZIKISON" and his age, technology-free, for all three categories of works to send the full?

1. PORTRAIT cartoon

Zivojin Pavlovic ZIKISON, (1885. - 1950.) Was a Satirist, a caricaturist, an editor, a publisher, and a printer. Between two wars in Serbia he was an actuator, a Co – Author editor of many newspapers for humor and satire. He has been suffering and imprisoned by Communist Regime in 1949. Stanisław Jerzy Lec, (6 March 1909 – 7 May 1966) (born Baron Stanisław Jerzy de Tusch-Letz) was a Polish poet and aphorist of Polish and Jewish noble origin. Often mentioned among the greatest writers of post-WW2 Poland, he was one of the most influential aphorists on the 20th century. Lyrical poetry, sceptical philosophical-moral aphorisms, often with a political subtext.

Jaroslav Hašek, (April 30, 1883–January 3, 1923) was a Czech humorist and satirist best known for his novel The Good Soldier Švejk, an unfinished collection of farcical incidents about a soldier in World War I, which has been translated into sixty languages. He also wrote some 1,500 short stories. He was a journalist, bohemian, and practical joker. His short life had many odd parallels with another Prague contemporary, the Jewish writer Franz Kafka (1883–1924).

Radoje Domanovic, (February 4, 1873 - August 4, 1908) was a Serbian writer and teacher, most famous for his satirical short stories. In 1899, he published two collections of short stories and his famous story "Danga" first appeared. The following year, he got a post as a clerk in the State's Archive. In 1902, after he published "Stradija", he was again dismissed from his post. He started writing editorials for magazine "Odjek" ("Reflection"). After the coup in 1903, Domanovic returned to his post, and soon got a stipend to work on his stories. It was rumoured that the coup saved his life, since he was on a list for liquidation of the previous government. In 1904, he started a magazine "Stradija", that had 35 editions.
